NOTE

The bond of caution does not indemnify the executor(s). It provides a guarantee that the executor will pay the creditors and beneficiaries of the deceased's estate. If the executor fails to pay the creditors and beneficiaries, the insurer will pay these funds and may recover the costs from the executor.

By signing the bond of caution, both the executor and any appointed solicitor are deemed to have read and agreed to their obligations under the bond of caution and are aware that Aviva Insurance Limited has the right to complete a credit check on the executor before the bond of caution is placed.
